What If Everyone Had A Superpower?

What if we had one superpower? What would your superpower be? What would you do to keep your community safe? What would you do on your free time?

What Would My Superpower be, and What would I do?

My superpower would be to shapeshift. One way I can help the community is if someone is drowning I could shapeshift into anything that would be able to pull the person out of the water without hurting them. I could do anything from soaring high in the clouds, to swimming in the depths of the ocean and nobody care what I do. I could climb the tallest tower, to digging in the deepest mine. But most importantly, I could save peoples lives just like Antonio Varacalli.

How did Antonio Varacalli Save a Life?

Antonio Varacalli saved a life because he jumped into the Seneca Falls canal to save a woman from drowning. But, unfortunately he drowned saving the woman. The story that has been told for many years is how many people remember Antonio Varacalli's name. Antonio will be remembered for being a hero when no one else was around. If Antonio never saved the woman then that woman would have drowned. Because Antonio died saving someone's life, Antonio will be remembered as a hero.

What do you think Antonio Varacalli would be like?

What would you think you'd be like if you were Antonio Varacalli? What do you think Antonio Varacalli would be like if he were still alive? Would you like being a famous hero? Or would you rather not be the talk of the decade? I would never dream of not being a famous hero. I would love to be the talk of the decade. But everyone is different. So it's your privacy for what you do, like, or whatever you'd want. If you could, many people would choose to hide in the shadows than be taken out of their comfort zone. I respect what people do. I would always respect others privacy. So what do you think? What would Antonio Varacalli be like if he were still alive?

What if Antonio Varacalli was Still Alive?

What if Antonio Varacalli was still alive? Would we still recognize him as a hero? Would he have told us about what happened over and over again and never have a care in the world about what people think about him? Would he tell the children tales of how he saved the woman? Would he tell tall tales and laugh at jokes? Would Antonio enjoy a longer life? Would Antonio enjoy a family? Or would he rather be alone? We will never know. He died without family by his side. Antonio Varacalli will never be forgotten, no matter what.

Why Did Antonio Varacalli Save the Woman?

Antonio Varacalli would never leave someone to drown. He would never even stop to think, he would just save. Antonio would die as a hero in the end anyways. But he would die saving family, friends... even strangers. Antonio Varacalli will be remembered forever.
